June 27-July1 – “Survive and Get Out Alive”

Can you make it through a night in the wild? All alone? What if you have unwanted company? Like a bear? Learn basic survival skills, such as starting a fire and building a lean-to, along with how to manage dangerous situations, including how to treat a snake bite or avoid poisonous plants. Can you find your way out in the dark?

July 11-15 – “Speeding Past the Future”

It’s hard to imagine life without telephones, computers, and cars. Explore innovations and inventions of the past. Experiment with ideas for moving ahead into the fast-approaching future. How is 3-D printing even possible? Let’s take a peek into what inventions are on the horizon. What would you invent if there were no limits?

July 18-22 – “A Space Odyssey”

Suit up and blast off for the unknown in this fresh look at cosmos. Did you know our galaxy is on a collision course with its nearest neighbor? Where can you find black holes and what purpose do they serve in the universe? Go beyond what’s commonly known for a look at the very nature of the universe, including gravity in space, the effects of mass and size, orbits, how telescopes work, and more!

July 25-29 – “The Harder They Fall”

What does it take to make a thrilling, but safe, roller coaster? Learn about their construction and that of seemingly impossible superstructures like the Burj Khalifa skyscraper in Dubai. Build models to see if they can withstand being subjected to considerable force. Discover how demolition takes careful planning to prevent catastrophe! What type of explosive was used to take down the Greenfield Bridge?

August 1-5 – “There’s a Fly in My Soup”

Discover the fascinating world of Earth’s most numerous inhabitants. Viewed by most with fear and disgust, are insects really that bad? While a mosquito is a pest (at the very least) to humans, they are a tasty treat to a bat! And, as the world’s population continues to increase year after year, insects may become an important food source for people, too! Larvae for lunch, anyone?

August 8-12 – “Crooks and Criminals and How to Catch Them”

Discover how detectives collect evidence to pursue and capture the criminals. Learn how to lift fingerprints, spot a forgery, interpret trajectory, and read secret codes. Extract real DNA and learn how forensic science helps bring the bad guys to justice. Work to solve a mystery using the crime-solving techniques learned in this camp for super sleuths.

Registration is limited to 20 campers each week. Many camps will sell out. Registrations are taken on a first-come, first-served basis. Payment is due at the time of registration.
